Pre-school Weekly Newsletter

Term: Autumn 2 Week: five

What an exciting week in pre-school! The children have been very enthusiastic about our visit to the library. We have started our Christmas countdown and welcomed an Elf to the pre-school. He is reporting all the good behaviour back to Santa.

A warm welcome to Rupert, who has joined pre-school this week! The children enjoyed having a new friend to play with.

Pre-school visit to Alsager Library

This week, we have been preparing for our visit to Alsager Library. We talked road safety and about safety near the level crossings. The children had a practice using our walking rein and understood the need to keep safe whilst on our walk to the library. At the library, the pre-school children were very well behaved and listened carefully to a story time before choosing their own books. On the way back, we stopped to watch a train pull up at the station. Everyone was ready for lunch when we arrived back at school.

Library books

The pre-school children each chose a book to bring home from the library. Books need to be returned to Alsager Library before their due date. If anyone has trouble returning their book (for any reason) please let pre-school staff know. We can easily return the book on your behalf.

Number Time

This week, we have recapped number one. The children found one pom pom in our cup game. They found different versions of number one, around the setting. We practiced writing number one in different sizes and rolled playdough number ones.

Have a super weekend!
