

One World Festival 2019

Poetry Competition

The theme of this year's festival is about Climate Change; an issue that affects us all.

Your challenge is to write a poem that highlights the problems or issues around climate change.

You can write any type of poem you wish: acrostic, a limerick, a ballad or any type you want to. It does not have to rhyme just use lots of ideas.

If you are stuck find a photograph in the newspaper or online which shows Climate change- this could be the picture of a rainforest or the arctic circle. You could even look closer to home in our own environment. Think about the changes that this environment is going through because of climate change.

It's up to you.

Once you have written your poem please take it to the library by the closing date where they will keep it until judging please make sure you have the following information on the reverse your poem:
