Origin Story

An origin is the story of how a character came to be the person they are today. It could be how they got their powers, or why they do what they do. It should detail the people who helped your character grow as a person and/or a hero/villain. Use the storyboard below to show their story.

The storyboard consists of six rectangular panels arranged in a 3x2 grid. The panels are connected by arrows indicating a sequence:

- Top-left panel connects to the top-right panel via a right-pointing arrow.
- Top-right panel connects to the middle-right panel via a down-pointing arrow.
- Middle-right panel connects to the middle-left panel via a left-pointing arrow.
- Middle-left panel connects to the bottom-left panel via a down-pointing arrow.
- Bottom-left panel connects to the bottom-right panel via a right-pointing arrow.

Tools of the Trade

Use this page to detail the tools of your character's trade. This could include weapons or equipment which your character uses. Draw a picture and include annotations (notes) to explain their use.
