Reception Class Newsletter

Our story this week has been the brilliant 'Stickman'. Our special vocabulary is weary, clattering, pursue, tumbling, tangled, swift, swoop and drift. It's great to see the children's confidence at using these words in sentences and we know that it won't be long until some children will be including them in their writing too.

We are continuing to count down to Christmas with our Class advent calendar and our countdown chart. We have some very excited children! If your child has written Christmas cards to their friends we have a special Christmas post box in the classroom.

Next week:

Please continue to send book bags in each day, even party day and the day of the trip, as we may have things to go home.

PE kits will be sent home for checking and washing over Christmas. We have noticed that there are lots of PE kits that are unnamed. We hope the right clothing has gone back into the right bag, but without names it has made it more tricky!

We will be visiting the school library on Wednesday and Class library books will be swapped on Monday and Friday as usual.

Please send RWI books in on MONDAY for swapping.

Mystery Readers

Thanks to Eleanor's Mum who came to read to us this week.

If you were able to come along, we hope that you enjoyed our EYFS nativity yesterday. We were so proud of everyone, especially as we know quite a lot of children are feeling a little under the weather at the moment.

Stickman Theatre Visit

In preparation for our visit to the theatre next week, we have begun preparing children for the trip as we know what a daunting experience that can seem for some children. Look out for further information early next week on how we are planning to make the day run as smoothly as possible.

EYFS Party Day

Children are welcome to wear their own clothes for the day. However, they still need a coat and sensible footwear to go outside. In the afternoon we will go into the hall for traditional party games. Afterwards we will have a special snack. Usual lunchtime arrangements apply so please ensure your child has a packed lunch on that day, if they USUALLY do.

Have a lovely weekend, from the EYFS team
